IT'S SIXTY FOOTBALL AS GUNS GO CRAZY

ARSENAL 6 0 LENS

by MATTHEW DUNN

ARSENAL put on a spectacle against Lens to book themselves a place in the knockout stages of the Champions League.

This romp guaranteed them top of Group B and came on the back of five first-half goals as the Gunners took revenge for a shock defeat at the Stade Bollaert earlier in the campaign.

For the first time in Champions League history, five different scorers found the back of the net for the same side in the opening period, with Kai Havertz sparking the rout and Bukayo Saka (inset) among the scorers. Jorginho added one more in the second half with a penalty after VAR finally reared its head.

ANOTHER horror show from calamity keeper Andre Onana last night put Manchester United on the brink of a Champions League exit.

His two howlers proved costly as United blew a 2-0 lead in Istanbul to leave their hopes of making the last 16 hanging in the balance.

They must now beat Bayern Munich at Old Trafford in a fortnight and hope Copenhagen and Galatasaray draw for them to advance.

Onana let in two soft free-kicks from former Chelsea player Hakim

FRENCH NICKERS: Toon robbed after pen is given for hitting Livramento's arm

VAR AXED AFTER PARIS SNATCH

UEFA have admitted the decision to award Paris St-Germain a crucial penalty against Newcastle was a mistake by axing the VAR responsible.

Tomasz Kwiatkowski was dumped from his next match in the wake of the handball call against defender Tino Livramento.

Standing the Pole down indicates UEFA view the penalty decision, which robbed Newcastle of a famous Champions League victory, as wrong.

Kwiatkowski ordered ref Szymon Marciniak to the VAR screen and a penalty was then given against Livramento despite the ball striking his chest before it bounced up to his arm.
